

Practice 10: Putting Sentences in the Correct Order (page 67)

A 8, 3, 10, 9, 2, 6, 5, 4, 1, 7

B Main Point: The first type of game will allow you to relax quietly but will also keep your brain active.

Example: For example, sudoku mentally challenges players to look for patterns with numbers.

Example: Other brain games such as crossword puzzles, word search puzzles, and word jumbles require language skills.

Main Point: Next, if you prefer spending time with others, there are games with a social element.

Example: For instance, when you play checkers or chess or when you play cards with a group of friends, you are also developing personal relationships.

Example: The same is true of board games such as Monopoly and Settlers of Catan, which have been bringing people together for friendly competition for decades.

Main Point: Finally, there are games for people who like the idea of being on a team and enjoy physical activity.

Example: The most obvious examples are sports such as basketball, baseball, and soccer, but party games such as charades can get quite physical as well.

Concluding Sentence: Indeed, the wide variety of games offers something to just about everyone.

Try It Out! (page 68)

Answers will vary.

Questions about the Model (page 69)

1. peaceful, sunny, and adventurous
2. typically
3. According to the paragraph, people like adventure travel for the chance to experience the unknown. They like experiences that are new and exciting.

Practice 11: Identifying Adjectives and Adverbs (page 70)

- A
2. Backpackers and trekkers typically visit mountainous areas (on a trip).
  3. Smart travelers carefully research and plan the details (of their departure and arrival).
  4. Websites quickly provide helpful information (for vacationers).
  5. Active travelers may sit and relax quietly (for part of their trip).

- B
- |                           |                   |
|---------------------------|-------------------|
| 2. adjective: mountainous | adverb: typically |
| 3. adjective: smart       | adverb: carefully |
| 4. adjective: helpful     | adverb: quickly   |
| 5. adjective: active      | adverb: quietly   |

PRACTICE 12: Choosing between Adjective and Adverbs (page 71)

economical	possible
specifically	beautiful
cheaply	wise
closely	significantly
final	basic intelligent

PRACTICE 13: Editing a Paragraph for Word Form Errors (page 71)

Foodies love incredible meals, so they eat and drink adventurous<sup>ly</sup> on their vacations. In their global<sup>ly</sup> travels, they enthusiastically try the local cuisine. In addition to popular restaurants with professional chefs, they visit family restaurants and bravely eat unusual<sup>ly</sup> foods in open-air markets. Another typical<sup>ly</sup> activity for food lovers is taking cooking classes. With their instructor, they shop for special<sup>ly</sup> ingredients and watch demonstrations. Then they skillfully use what they have learned. True foodies usually do one final thing before the end of a trip. They careful<sup>ly</sup> put all of their new recipes in a safe place so that they can quick<sup>ly</sup> use them when they get home. Clearly, these travelers want good food both at home and on the road.