

Lesson 53: 論点の配列 4: 時の副詞を論点配列に使う

immediately

Please call me immediately if you need any help.

The fire alarm went off, and everyone evacuated the building immediately.

I will respond to your email immediately after I finish this meeting.

She immediately realized her mistake and apologized.

for a moment

Please wait for a moment while I check your reservation.

She paused for a moment before answering the question.

I thought I saw something move for a moment, but it was just a shadow.

Let's stop here for a moment and enjoy the view.

idiom

Like two peas in a pod

Meaning: Very similar or close.

Example: Those best friends are like two peas in a pod; they do everything together.

We get along like two peas in a pod, sharing the same interests and hobbies.

Lesson 54: 論点の配列 5: 論点の配列で使われる before, after before

Before discussing the solution, let's clearly define the problem.

We need to review the data before making any conclusions.

Before addressing the main issue, let's consider the background information.

after

After explaining the background, we will move on to the main argument.

Please summarize the key points after you finish your presentation.

After evaluating the evidence, we can draw a reasonable conclusion.