1. Host 1: Hi, and welcome to Relationship Guys on WROW. On our weekly show we give relationship advice for our listeners.

Host 2: We help out all the people that e-mail and call us during the week and hopefully set things right.

Host 1: Okay, our first e-mail comes from Jose.

Host 2: His problem is he lives with his girlfriend and she works more hours than he does. And since he's around the house more, he helps out with the chores.

Host 1: That doesn't sound too bad.

Host 2: No, here's the problem. He started doing the laundry. First it was "Just this once, "then "Oh, do it this time and I'll get it next week." "Now it's his permanent job; he's washing all the clothes.

Host 1: Oh, no! He made the classic mistake.

Host 2: What's that?

Host 1: Okay, I'm gonna give out the secret to all you guys listening.

Host 2: Oh, let me get a pen. I gotta write this down. I don't wanna forget it.

Host 1: Ready? Here it comes. The first time you wash her clothes, you ruin it.

Host 2: Ruin it?

2. Host 1: Yes, you wash her white shirts with red socks. You shrink her sweaters. You wash everything that says, "dry clean only".

Host 2: I see. So then she'll never let you wash her clothes again.

Host 1: Exactly. You could beg her to wash her stuff after that, she wouldn't let you.

Host 2: You, my friend, are a genius.

Host 1: Hey, I know I try.

3. Host 1: Okay, we have Wendy on the line. Wendy, what's your problem?

Wendy: Well, I think my boyfriend is cheating on me, but I'm not sure. And I don't wanna directly accuse him of cheating on me since everything is going so well.

Host 2: Hold it. If everything is going so well, why do you think he's cheating on you?

Wendy : Well, about a month ago, our relationship was on the rocks. And we were actually very close to breaking up. Then recently, things took a drastic turn and he started paying closer attention to me and complimenting my hair and what not. But something just doesn't seem right and I wanna get to the bottom of it.

2. Host 1: So what's wrong with things suddenly improving? That's never been a bad thing.

Host 2 : Wendy, let me ask you this. When things were going bad, did you want them to get better?

Wendy : Of course, I did.

Host 2: And now that they did, you got what you wanted and you're still not happy, are you?

Host 1: Wait, wait, wait. I got a more important question. What do you look like, Wendy?

Wendy : What do I look like? What does that have to do with anything?

Host 2: Come on! Just tell us. What celebrity do you most resemble?

Wendy : Well, people tell me I look like Jennifer Love Hewitt all the time. And some say I look like Marisa Tomei.

Host 1: Mmm, very nice, very nice. Okay, so, uh, what does he look like?

Wendy : Well, he's a little older than me. Um, some say he looks like Danny Devito. I think he looks like a furry teddy bear.

3. Host 1: Wendy, I think maybe you're the one who's cheating or maybe thinking about breaking up with the dwarfed yeti. So why don't you tell us what's really going on, huh?

Wendy : You know, maybe you're right. I'm used to dating men who treat me like trash, and now that he's treating me well, I'm just not interested. But for the record, I'm not cheating on him.

Host 2: Okay, terrific. Sounds like you've figured out everything for yourself. Glad we could be of help.

Host 1: So what did we learn today, gentlemen? Older men, beware! If you're thinking about dating a younger woman, keep a close eye on them because even though they may seem devoted, they will eventually stray like a cat in heat.

Host 2: That's all the time we have for today. Tune in tomorrow. We'll be talking to a real live yeti.
