

Lesson 67: あいさつの台本 3: 相手の印象を述べる

You look ~

A: You look different. Did you cut your hair?

B: Yes! I wanted a fresh look.

A: You look distracted. Is something on your mind?

B: Kind of... I'm worried about the meeting later.

A: You look like you just ran a marathon.

B: I know, right? I was rushing to catch the bus.

I like your ~

A: I like your necklace.

B: Oh, thank you. It was a gift from my sister.

A: I like your haircut.

B: Really? I wasn't sure at first, but I'm glad you think so.

A: I like your sense of humor.

B: Good! At least someone appreciates my terrible jokes.

idiom

on cloud nine

Being on cloud nine indicates a state of extreme happiness or euphoria, often resulting from positive emotions or experiences.

Winning the championship had me on cloud nine for weeks.

Lesson 68: あいさつの台本 4: 最近の活動を問う

How is ~ going?

A: How is your homework going?

B: Not great... I'm stuck on the last question.

A: How is your recovery going?

B: Much better, thanks. I can finally walk without pain.

Is it true ~ ?

A: Is it true you joined the basketball team?

B: Yep! I'm still getting used to the practice schedule, though.

A: Is it true you'll be leading the new project?

B: That's what the manager told me. I'm still waiting for the official announcement, though.
