

What Are They Thinking?

p.5

A4	cognitive	adj.	relating to thinking and understanding
B4	primate	n.	intelligent groups of mammals, including humans, monkeys, and apes
C4	recognition	n.	an understanding that something is true
C4	consciousness	n.	the state of using your senses and thinking, and being aware of the world and oneself
D1	convince	v.	to make someone believe that something is true
D2	complex	adj.	involving a lot of different parts; difficult to understand
E2	relatively	adv.	in comparison with something else; somewhat
E2	controversial	adj.	causing disagreement
E4	grief	n.	a very sad feeling
E4	empathy	n.	the ability to understand and share another person's feelings
F1	anecdotally	adv.	look at individual observations rather than thorough scientific research
F3	domesticated	adj.	animals are used to being around humans.

---

F5	attachment	n.	a strong emotional bond between someone or something
F7	astray	adv.	away from the correct path; into error or trouble
F7	intuition	n.	the ability to understand or know something immediately without conscious reasoning
F10	inference	n.	a conclusion based on evidence and reasoning
G3	neuroscientist	n.	a scientist who studies the brain and nervous system
G3	transparent	adj.	allowing light to pass through so that objects behind can be seen clearly; easy to see or understand
G6	suffering	n.	pain, either mental or physical

p.7

I1	playful	adv.	full of fun and play; liking to play
I7	evolve	v.	to develop gradually over time
I8	egret	n.	a white bird with long legs and a long neck, often seen in wetlands
I11	tadpole	n.	a young form of a frog that looks like a fish
J5	engage	v.	to involve someone in an activity or attract their interest
L1	appreciate	v.	to recognize the value or importance of something; to be thankful for something